

WW2 pack: COGS badge challenges

Take a look at the badge awarded to 'Cogs' during WW2. It shows a small cog within a much larger wheel, or machine. This represents how small actions can make a big difference to the bigger picture.

It's time to investigate what materials can be recycled where you live. Check the website to find your local collection and then complete the table below.

<https://www.recycledevon.org/recycling-collections/>

What day of the week does your recycling usually get collected?
Where do the recycling containers have to be placed on collection day?
What time do the containers need to be put out by?
How many boxes / bins / bags do you have?
What colours are they?
What materials can go into each box or bag?

Now you are a recycling expert, it's time to take action at home!

Your task is to help sort materials into the correct boxes and bags for recycling, and to put them outside for collection (with your grown up's permission).

What day did you put the recycling out? _____

What time was it? _____

Who usually does this job? _____

Were the boxes / bags heavy or light? _____

What was the weather like outside? Was it warm/cold? Light/dark?
_____

Did you see the recycling lorry crew come and collect your recycling? How many people were in the lorry? Did you wave to them?
_____

Well done for completing the recycling challenges.

Here is your COGS badge!
